

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A vehicle braking assembly for a wheel includes a braking member arranged to move relative to the main body of the wheel between an inoperative position, a blocking member for preventing the braking member from moving to an operative position, a trigger device operable by coded message passed by a separate transmitter as electromagnetic radiation, and an EMR sensor.